Perfect Modals

MUST HAVE
MUST HAVE + PAST PARTICIPLE
 We use it to make a deduction about something that has happened. We feel quite sure about it.
Example:
 If you can't find your car keys you must have left them in the house.

CAN'T HAVE CAN'T HAVE + PAST PARTICIPLE
 We are making a deduction about something that didn't happen in the past based on present evidence.
Example:
 He can't have fallen in love with her. She's married.

SHOULD HAVE
SHOULD HAVE + PAST PARTICIPLE
 Use it to express the idea that something was desirable or needed but didn't take place.
Example:
 I should have called you yesterday but I forgot.
Shouldn't have: Something took place but it wasn't desirable: You shouldn't have drunk so much. Now you feel terrible.

NEEDN'T HAVE
NEEDN'T HAVE + PAST PARTICIPLE
 It's the opposite meaning to 'should have'. It indicates that something was done but it wasn't necessary. The person who did it thought it was necessary.
Example:
 You needn't have bought more milk. We've got too much.

MIGHT/MAY/COULD HAVE
MIGHT/MAY/COULD HAVE + PAST PARTICIPLE
 Use them to say that something was possible in the past but we are not sure.
Example:
 I think I saw Sally at the cinema but I might / may / could have been wrong. It was very dark.

MIGHT/COULD HAVE
MIGHT/COULD HAVE + PAST PARTICIPLE
 Use them to say that something was possible in the past but we know that it didn't in fact happen.
Example:
 If Mary hadn't been there, my son might/could have fallen down and hurt himself. He was so lucky.

STUDYING

– CONDITIONALS –

What are conditionals in English grammar? Sometimes we call them 'if clauses'. They describe the result of something that might happen (in the present or future) or might have happened but didn't (in the past) . They are made using different English verb tense

Zero Conditional

(zero chance of being wrong)

– IF + PRESENT SIMPLE + PRESENT SIMPLE –

Ex: If you heat ice, it melts

Ex: If you stand in the rain, you get wet

First Conditional

(possible situation in the future)

- IF + PRESENT SIMPLE + WILL + VERB -

Ex: If you study, you will pass the exam

Ex: If it rains, we will cancel the trip

Second Conditional

(Unreal or improbable situations)

- IF + PAST SIMPLE + WOULD + VERB -

Ex: If i won the lottery, i would travel a lot

Ex: If they sold their house, they would be rich

Third Conditional

(imaginary situation that didn't happen)

(Imagining a different past)

- IF + PAST PERFECT + WOULD HAVE + PAST PARTICIPLE -

Ex: If i had worked harder, i would have gotten that promotion

Ex. if you had studied, you would have passed the exam

Los "mixed conditionals" combinan elementos de diferentes tipos de condicionales en una oración. Por lo general, se mezclan partes de condicionales de segundo y tercer tipo. Hay dos tipos comunes:

Presente en la condición, pasado en el resultado:

Ejemplo: "If I had studied harder (past perfect condition), I would be more prepared for the exam now (would + present result)."

Pasado en la condición, condicional perfecto en el resultado:

Ejemplo: "If she had visited last week (past perfect condition), she would have seen the art exhibition (present perfect result)."

Recuerda que estos ejemplos pueden variar según el contexto, pero la idea es combinar tiempos verbales de diferentes condicionales en una oración para expresar relaciones temporales complejas.

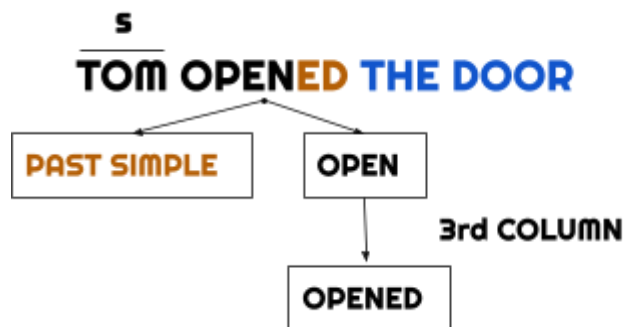

STUDYING

– PASSIVE VOICE –

1. REGULAR PASSIVE VOICE

What is passive voice?

Passive voice is focusing on the action that happened rather than the doer.

SUBJECT + BE + PAST PARTICIPLE

THE DOOR WAS OPENED BY TOM

TOM DID THE HOMEWORK

➡ THE HOMEWORK WAS DONE BY TOM

TOM DOES THE HOMEWORK

➡ THE HOMEWORK IS DONE BY TOM

TOM WILL DO THE HOMEWORK

➡ THE HOMEWORK WILL BE DONE BY TOM

TOM IS DOING THE HOMEWORK

→ THE HOMEWORK IS BEING DONE BY TOM

TOM HAS DONE THE HOMEWORK

→ THE HOMEWORK HAS BEEN DONE BY TOM

IMPERSONAL REPORT

PEOPLE SAY TOM IS DOING THE HOMEWORK

→ IT IS SAID THAT TOM IS DOING THE HOMEWORK

→ TOM IS SAID TO BE DOING THE HOMEWORK

PEOPLE BELIEVED TOM WAS DOING THE HOMEWORK

- RELATIVE CLAUSES -

RELATIVE CLAUSE ES UNA PARTE DE UNA ORACIÓN QUE AÑADE INFORMACIÓN.
TODAS ESTAS EMPIEZAN CON UN RELATIVE PRONOUN

RELATIVE PRONOUNS

Who -> PEOPLE

Whom -> PEOPLE, FORMAL, OBJECT FORM

Which -> THINGS

Whose -> POSSESSING

Where -> PLACE

When -> TIME

Why -> REASON

DEFINING CLAUSES

INFORMACIÓN NECESARIA, NO COMAS

THE GIRL WHO/THAT LIVES NEXT DOOR IS VERY CUTE

THE GIRL WHO/THAT I LIKE IS BEHIND ME

THE GIRL I LIKE IS BEHIND ME

NON-DEFINING CLAUSES

INFORMACIÓN INNECESARIA, COMAS

¡NO THAT!

THAT CLAUSES

El that nos introduce a otra clause que debe cumplir con ciertas reglas

1. Verbo → TIEMPO VERBAL -I
Will → Would
Can → Could
Present Simple → Past Simple

Present Continuous → Past Continuous
Past Simple → Past Perfect Simple
Past Continuous → Past Perfect Continuous
Past Perfect → Past Perfect

2. Sujeto → CAMBIA

I → He/She
You → I/Me
Him → Him/You

(Dependiendo a quien se refiera, el sujeto cambia; Si tom dijo: I am mad at you > He was mad at me.

(tom hacia mi): Don't tell Brian about this (yo hacia brian): He told me not to tell you about that en inglés, cuando usamos una pregunta en estilo indirecto, la estructura cambia y se convierte en una afirmación.

Aquí están los puntos clave:

1. Estructura afirmativa en reported speech: En el estilo indirecto, no se usa la inversión sujeto-verbo típica de una pregunta directa. Así que en lugar de "had I", decimos "I had".
2. Orden correcto: En reported speech, el orden sujeto-verbo siempre sigue una estructura de oración afirmativa: [Sujeto] + [Verbo]. Por eso decimos "where I had left it" y no "where had I left it".

- INTRODUCTION -

! TÍTULO

Pelotudo el título

1 ENVOLVER AL LECTOR

Debes captar la atención del lector desde el principio. Aquí es donde puedes usar estrategias como una cita relevante, un dato interesante o incluso una pregunta retórica.

sí, las preguntas retóricas pueden funcionar, pero no abuses de ellas.

2 ACLARAR EL TEMA

Introduce brevemente el tema del ensayo para que el lector entienda de qué vas a hablar.

No des demasiados detalles, solo lo suficiente para establecer el contexto.

- DESARROLLO -

1 TOPIC SENTENCE

La topic sentence seria el titulo de tu idea, aca vas a dar el punto clave de tu idea, ya sea que creas que la ropa de un local es cara o que la comida de un restaurante es muy rica, simplemente vas a dar la idea principal.

2 SUPPORT

Vas a dar la explicación a la topic sentence, incluyendo ejemplos, evidencia, opiniones.

La evidencia necesita una explicación que conecte los datos con tu argumento. Simplemente incluir estadísticas o citas no es suficiente si no explicas su relevancia.

3 REPETIR x3

- CONCLUSIÓN -

1 REFORMULACIÓN

Expresa nuevamente tu postura o argumento principal.

Pero de forma ligeramente diferente a como lo hiciste en la introducción.

2 RESUMIR PUNTOS CLAVE + OPINIÓN

Resume los puntos más importantes que sustentaron tu tesis, sin dar demasiados detalles. y cuenta tu opinión

3 CIERRE FINAL

Esto se puede mezclar con la opinión, pero debes dar una predicción a futuro, una advertencia o una llamada a acción.

- ERRORES -

1 REPETICIÓN DE IDEAS

Repetir los mismos argumentos o puntos en diferentes párrafos puede hacer que el ensayo se sienta monótono y poco profundo. Cada párrafo debe desarrollar una idea nueva relacionada con la tesis.

2 DESVIARSE DEL TEMA

Mantén el enfoque en tu idea principal. Evita incluir ideas o información irrelevante que no esté directamente relacionada con tu argumento principal.

3 FALTA DE LINKING WORDS

La falta de cohesión entre los párrafos puede hacer que el ensayo sea difícil de seguir. Usa conectores para que las ideas fluyan de manera lógica.

! PLANIFICA EL ESSAY

Hace un esquema principal antes de hablar de él
